

(F) THE DEVELOPMENT OF A SKILL

Within a well structured games scheme for a school there should be ample opportunity for children to develop skills over a period of time so they can explore the possibilities for using them in different situations and practise to develop confidence, fluency and accuracy. This will enable them to use the acquired skills in increasingly more pressured game-like and mini-game situations.

Developing and progressing a skill or tactical situation could be illustrated by the following model:-

